

Happy pigs, happy farmers

I am working for Humane World for Animals, a non-profit organization with the vision of improving farmed animal welfare within the food supply chain. I travel throughout Viet Nam and a couple of Southeast Asia countries to provide technical assistance to pig producers who are implementing a group-housing system. I also work with the buyers and investors who are willing to adopt/implement animal welfare policy.

Hang Le

Program Director at Humane World for Animals

Ho Chi Minh City, Viet Nam

What are your specialties in the pig industry?

Group-housing system for sows

What are the projects that you've been most proud of?

I work with the most industry friends to deliver the practices and knowledge on group housing, which is commonly developed in other parts of the world.

Your current focus:

Top 10 large pig producers; supporting industry stakeholders (breeders, equipment manufacturers and medias)

What specific areas of expertise do you seek to emphasize?

Ventilation and farm management

Which topics do you consider to be the most critical in the pig industry at this time?
Biosecurity and animal welfare

Contact information:

Email: hanglt@humanworld.org